COST HEAVILY TO BREAK QUARANTINE

Two Residents Must Pay Fine of Fifty Dollars Each, with Costs, for Breaking Diphtheria Quarantine Regulations.

Louis Minnigh and George Rosensteel Jr. were this morning fined $50 each and instructed to pay costs of $4.25 each for violating quarantine regulations during the recent illness with diphtheria of Mrs. Rosensteel at the home of her parents, 328 West Middle street.

The house was placed under quarantine on July 16 and a week later Health Officer Wavell saw Mr. Minnigh, the patient's father, on Chambersburg street. The officer learned that no permit had been granted and a warrant was issued for Mr. Minnigh's arrest. It was served after the quarantine was lifted. On the evening that Mr. Minnigh was seen away from home Mr. Wavell inquired at the house and was told that he had been going in and out during the period of quarantine. Mr. Minnigh denied this and said that he was not there between July 16 and July 23 and that when he did enter he stayed until the restrictions were lifted. Entrance to the house was sufficient to allow a conviction, even though he did stay, the borough and State regulations both forbidding either leaving or entering the premises.

In the case of Mr. Rosensteel he admitted that he had been going in and out of the house merely for the purpose of getting provisions and that he did not go into the part of the house where the patient was confined. When he learned that he should have a permit for leaving the premises he applied at the office of Dr. Stewart and was refused, being told that he should go home and Dr. Stewart intimating that such application should have been made before he left the house. It is the part of the physician in every instance to make such application, so that the wage earner does not have to leave before getting the permit. It was Mr. Rosensteel's going to Dr. Stewart for the permit that caused his arrest, for the Board of Health had no other direct evidence of his violating the quarantine. His offense was committed on July 24.

The minimum fine prescribed for the offense is $50 and this was imposed in each case. It is probable that some effort will be made to have the county commissioners take action reducing this amount as was done in the case of William Menchey a year or more ago.

Fortunately trees and fence posts were struck and the buildings escaped damage.

BLAME MICE FOR FIRE AT MILL

Gettysburg Roller Mills Threatened with Destruction by Early Evening Blaze. Volunteer Bucket Brigade's Efficient Work.

Gnawing mice are blamed for a fire at the Gettysburg roller mill, early Thursday evening, which damaged the building slightly and caused general excitement. Heavy black smoke was discovered issuing from the windows and roof of the structure shortly after six o'clock but quick action by citizens, with well directed efforts, extinguished the flames and the services of the fire company were not required. The mill is owned and operated by Mr. Basehoar whose loss is fully covered by insurance.

The fire started in the office on the second floor of the building and, when the first persons arrived on the scene, the whole interior of the room was a mass of flames. The door from the office into the other part of the mill was broken open and water was thrown in, over the walls, effectively stopping the spread of the fire but not until the ceiling between the second and third floors had been burned through. The office was lined with heavy paper, accounting for the rapid spread of the blaze.

The volunteer bucket brigade not only saved the building from destruction but also rescued Mr. Basehoar's desk containing books and papers. Other willing hands carried out bags of grain and flour, and further damage was prevented when the fire company refrained from pouring a stream of water into the building and inflicting even more loss than that caused by the actual fire.

The company was on the scene ready for action and Mr. Basehoar was very appreciative of their quick response to the alarm.

COLLEGE TEAM LOST ANOTHER

Methodists Take College Lutherans into Camp after Interesting Game. College Scores its First Run this year.

Those College base ball players, dubbed by some unkind fan as the "cellar rats," took a firmer hold on last place Thursday evening by losing to the Methodists 5 to 4. At that, they were right well pleased with the result for it was the first time this season that they avoided a shut out. Collection $3.66.

While the fans were watching the near-fire at the Gettysburg Roller Mills the Methodists were getting their unconquerable lead and managed to accumulate three runs on hits, errors and passed balls before the official base ball reporter arrived to tell the tale. College didn't even threaten until the third inning, only five pitched balls being required to retire the side in the second when Zincand registered to his credit two assists and a put-out.

In their half of the second the Methodists scored one when Myers got a hit and scored on two passed balls. In the third College got a man to third when Billy Duncan drew a pass and got two more bases on passed balls. The other batters were not equal to the occasion, and he died at third.

College got two of their tallies in the fourth. Skelly took first on Armor's error, stole second and third, scoring when Zincand muffed the throw to catch him at the base. Moser took first on Beck's error and Hartzell, running for him, advanced to third on Dubbs' hit, scoring on Slaybaugh's hit. Dubbs delighted the crowd by a vigorous effort to reach what he thought was third base. 't proved a player's glove—four feet from the necessary station—and the diminutive catcher was out.

What proved to be the winning run was tallied by the Methodists at the beginning of the fifth. Ridinger got to first on a base on balls, took second on a passed ball and scored when Skelly threw wild to catch Zincand at first.

College looked dangerous in its half of the final round. Pittenturf got an infield hit, stole second and took third on a wild throw, scoring on Zincand's error of Skelly's fly. Skelly stole second and scored on Zincand's wild throw of Hartzell's grounder. The necessary run to tie was not forthcoming and College nestled a little more comfortably at the bottom of the ladder.

FELL INTO WELL

Went into Well for Chick. Had Trouble Getting Out.

Robert Howe, residing on the Pen-jamin Eicholtz farm, several miles west of New Oxford, had an experience a few days ago that he is not likely to forget for some time. The well on the premises had been cleaned and then covered with several boards.

Some time later, Mr. Howe imagined that a young chick had fallen into the well, which is 35 feet in depth. He threw back the boards and climbed to the bottom by means of the wall and rock along the side. When he reached the bottom he discovered no chick there, and only about one foot of water. He started to ascend by the same means that he descended, but when he reached within a few feet of the top he became dizzy and fell to the bottom. He escaped with but a few slight bruises and scratches. After taking a rest and fully regaining himself, he again started to ascend and finally reached the top without further trouble.

RIVAL GOVERNORS REIGN IN NEW YORK

Sulzer Holds On, While Glynn Claims to be Executive.

MRS. SULZER SERIOUSLY ILL

Adjutant General Recognizes Glynn and Secretary of State Will Do the Same, It Is Said.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Two claimants to the office of governor of New York sat in the capitol, each asserting his right to the office and attempting to conduct the state's affairs from his own chambers.

William Sulzer, impeached governor, sat in the executive chamber on the second floor of the building. He is going to sit there every day, according to friends, disregarding the impeachment proceedings, which he regards as unconstitutional.

Martin H. Glynn, lieutenant governor, in his own office, laid claims to the governorship on the grounds that Sulzer ceased to be governor when the senate received the articles of impeachment.

The army of state employees is demoralized. Department heads are at a loss to know whose instructions to follow.

Governor Sulzer continuing to exercise the functions of the executive, signed among other papers a requisition from the governor of New Jersey for the extradition of a person in custody in New York.

Adjutant General Hamilton, head of the National Guard of New York, and a Sulzer appointee, recognized Lieutenant Governor Glynn as acting governor of the state, sending an emissary to him to ask if there were any orders he cared to transmit. Mr. Glynn said he had no orders, and if he should have any in the future he would make them in writing.

Acting Adjutant General Evan Howard declared he recognizes Glynn as the constitutional governor of the commonwealth. This would leave Governor Sulzer helpless so far as the militia is concerned.

Secretary of State May has decided to recognize Glynn's claim to the acting governorship, according to Glynn's friends. The great seal of the state of New York is in Mr. May's office, and access to it will be given Mr. Glynn and denied Mr. Sulzer, they assert.

Mrs. Sulzer, star witness of the impeached governor, is so seriously ill of a nervous disorder that two additional specialists, making three, have been summoned by wire to attend her. Governor Sulzer asserted emphatically that he would not permit her to take the stand at his trial for impeachment, which probably will start Sept. 22.

The articles of impeachment, complaint and summons were served on Governor Sulzer immediately after his arrival at the capitol by Patrick E. McCabe, clerk of the senate. The governor received Mr. McCabe in the presence of a crowd of newspaper men and capitol attendants. He shook hands with Mr. McCabe and took his stand behind his big flat-top desk, while the senate's envoy declared: "I am directed by the president of the senate to serve upon you a summons and complaint and articles of impeachment." Governor Sulzer took the papers, grunted, and tossed them, unopened, on his desk. "All right," he said.

Then he posed for a photograph with Mr. McCabe, asked the newspaper men to be seated and sat down himself at his desk. His private secretary stood beside him and made the following announcement:

"The governor has been enjoined by his counsel from making any statement. I will say, however, on his behalf that illness of Mrs. Sulzer is giving the governor considerable concern. Her condition was very serious. The specialist summoned from New York is here and the governor summoned two other doctors from New York to attend her."

When the governor learned of the serious nature of Mrs. Sulzer's ailment he declared, in an outburst of impulsiveness, that he would never permit her to take the witness stand at his trial. Friends expect to dissuade him from this, however, should her condition improve sufficiently, as they believe that the governor's case will be materially strengthened when she tells her version to the court.

In the opinion of some of the governor's friends, however, the court of impeachment will never sit in judgment on his case and Mrs. Sulzer will be saved the ordeal of examination at the hands of counsel for political interests bitter toward her husband.

"Mrs. Sulzer, far from acting with intent to do wrong, was entirely unconscious of the gravity of her offense when she bought stocks with a part of her husband's campaign contributions," asserted a close friend of the Sulzer family. "On the contrary, she thought she was doing a very sensible thing. Her husband was involved in debt when he began his campaign for the governorship. He had saved nothing during the years he was a representative at Washington. He is not a business man, and his wife thought she was entirely within her rights in providing for the future by putting away something for a rainy day, even without his knowledge."

that the court of impeachment will never convene to try his case base their opinion on the tentative plan of his counsel to have the courts review the constitutionality of the impeachment proceedings prior to Sept. 18. This review, they assert, probably will be started by mandamus proceedings to compel obedience to his instructions by the first department head who refuses to recognize the claim that he is still governor.

THE "MOVIE" TRUST COMES UNDER FIRE

General Film Company Sued For $303,000.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 15.—Charging that the General Film company, of New York, producers of moving picture films, is a monopoly in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, Joseph H. Sampliner, as assignee of the claims of the Lake Shore Film and Supply company, of Cleveland, brought suit in the federal court here. He asks $303,000 damages.

The petition charges that the business of the Lake Shore Film and Supply company, which rented films and projecting machines throughout Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan, practically has been ruined by the monopolistic methods of the General Film company.

The petition avers that in 1908 a combination of manufacturers, who owned practically all the American patents on projecting machines, was organized under the name of the Motion Picture Patents company, a New Jersey corporation. Litigation concerning many patents was thus settled, and the petition charges each of the companies entering the combination received a license to manufacture films and machines and use all the patents. The companies allied to have entered the alliance were: The American Mutoscope and Biograph company, New Jersey; Edison Manufacturing company, New Jersey; Essanay Film company, New York; Kalem Film company, New York; Lubin Manufacturing company, Pennsylvania; Pathe Freres, New Jersey; Vitagraph Company of America, New York; Melies Manufacturing company, New York; and the Selig Polyscope company, Illinois.

It is alleged that after this combination, agencies throughout the country were notified that if they were to have the products of any of the companies they must take them on lease only and pay royalty on the patents. They were forced also to use only the products of the allied companies. The Lake Shore Film and Supply company says that to continue in business it had to enter the agreement.

Regrets Ambassador's Criticism of British Mexican Policy.

FEDERALS ARREST AMERICAN

S. C. Hulise, Son-in-Law of Pennsylvania Lieutenant Governor, a Prisoner and His Execution Is Feared.

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Wilson severely reprimanded Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson for his action in issuing a statement criticizing the British foreign office.

Ambassador Page was instructed to express to Sir Edward Grey the regret of the American government that a diplomatic officer of the United States "should have been guilty of such an impropriety."

After a conference between President Wilson and Secretary Bryan it became known that the administration would take action with regard to the statement issued by Ambassador Wilson, attacking the reported views of the British foreign office on the recognition of the Huerta government in Mexico.

Secretary Bryan arranged to confer with Chairman Bacon, of the senate foreign relations committee, and meanwhile awaited word from the British summer embassy at Dublin, N. H., as to whether the statement of the British foreign office, as reported publicly, was correct.

Senator Lodge, Republican, conferred briefly with the president and told him he wished to co-operate in every way possible to support his efforts to handle the situation peacefully.

Sherley C. Hulise, son-in-law of Lieutenant Governor John M. Reynolds, of Pennsylvania, is a prisoner of the Mexican federals and in grave danger of execution. This report was made by Senator Boies Penrose in an appeal to Secretary Bryan, for the protection of Mr. Hulise and other Americans likewise in the shadow of death at Parral, in the state of Chihuahua.

The senator had just received a telephone message from Lieutenant Governor John M. Reynolds, who expressed the fear that his son-in-law was in imminent danger of murder by the federal forces.

Hulise, who is an employee of the Mexican Northern Power and Irrigation company, has his wife and little daughter with him. News of his arrest by the Mexicans came from W. B. Fuller, chief engineer of the company, now at El Paso, Tex.

With American refugees aboard, the navy supply ship Glacier sailed from Guaymas for San Francisco. She will take more Americans aboard at Topolobampo.

The cruiser Tacoma reported that she expected to reach Vera Cruz late Saturday or early Sunday. The gunboat Nashville is expected to sail from the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard on Saturday and reach Vera Cruz about a week later.

BOY LOST TWO DAYS ON HILLS

He Wanders Away From Camp With Girl, Who Is Found Next Day.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 15.—After tramping two days over the mountains without food, Oran Trammel, a three-year-old boy, who wandered away from a construction camp at Woodland, was found by James Payne, an old hunter. Payne declined the reward of $500 offered by J. T. Trammel, the child's father.

Last Tuesday the Trammel child and Ruby Thomson, four years old, wandered away from the camp. Searching parties found the little girl the next day six miles from home. She said the boy had tired and she had left him.

Payne trailed the boy over Eagle and Kiamichi mountains and came on him fast asleep. The country through which the children wandered is infested with wolves and wildcats.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 15.—Mrs. Katherine Guthrie, of Washington, was found dead in her summer apartments here, lying in a pool of blood, with a towel tied about her neck.

SHOW COMING

Sanger's Circus, And it's a Good One, of Course.

Clowning is an art. The best clowns are born comedians, and with careful training, they make the audience howl with delight. The fun-making department of Sanger's Shows has received special attention from the astute management, and under the direction of that greatest of funny fools, Billy Lightfoot, assisted by more than twenty others, rip-roaring hilarity holds high revel at every performance. And it is all pure fun, nothing risqué, the kind of fun that appeals to all, ladies, children, grown-ups, high-brows and ordinary citizens; all will roar together at the droll antics, ingenious hits and comicities.

Two performances will be given at Gettysburg Monday, August 18.

THE HAVOC

Paul Gilmore's Players Coming in Great New York Success.

It is in this drama with a comic twist or two that Mr. Gilmore does some of the best professional work of his life. The chief character in it is a wronged husband, a masterful man, who dominates critical situations through an iron will that is concealed under a light suave, easy, but grimly humorous manner. "The Havoc" is remarkable for big dramatic moments, and Mr. Gilmore's lot in the very forefront of the season's successful stars. At Walter's Theatre Thursday, August 21—advertisement.
